Luke 1:5-22

Angel Announces Birth of John the Baptist

The Priest Zacharias is chosen to burn the incense in front of the veil that divides the Most Holy Place from the Holy Place in the Temple. This high honor, determined by drawing lots, was only given once to a Priest. Because there were so many Priests, many of them never got the honor of performing this important Temple ritual. Zacharias encounters the Angel Gabriel who tells him that his wife, Elizabeth would conceive John the Baptist. When Zacharias asks for verification of the Angel's message, he is made speechless until the birth of his son, John the Baptist, as a sign that the Angel's message is true. This Av 7 date is exactly 520 years after the start of the burning of the Jerusalem Temple in 526 BC according to 2 Kings 25:8-10.

Nisan 14 Passover of Jesus at Twelve Years Old

In the Old Testament, Nisan 14 Passover always falls on a Tuesday. The Nisan 14 Passover date, in the New Testament, becomes an example of an exact known solar date from Creation (SDFC). In the New Testament, we are now dealing with a solar calendar. Starting in 1 AD, a solar-Passover dated event falls on Nisan 14 Passover and can always be accurately placed on the Gregorian-Hebrew calendar. Nisan 14 Passover will always fall on April 5 on the Gregorian calendar in a non-leap year. Nisan 14 will always fall on April 3 in a leap year. In the year 30 AD, Nisan 14 falls on a Friday and is the day of the crucifixion of Jesus.

Date From History

Tiberius Begins Three Year Joint Reign with Augustus

Several sources confirm this date and year. 12 AD coins show a picture of Tiberius as Emperor in the first of his three years of a joint reign with Augustus. This would make the 15th year of his reign and the year of the baptism of Jesus in the late summer or fall of 26 AD. The Roman reigns normally start on July 1 on the Julian calendar. June 29 on the Gregorian calendar is the same day as July 1 on the Julian calendar in 11 AD.
